AUSTRIA DECLARES WAR ON JAPAN TODAY

FORMAL DECLARATION IS SERVED ON THE JAPANESE AMBASSADOR AND HE IS HANDED HIS PASSPORTS.

ENGLAND IS DETERMINED

Capture of Namur, Gibraltar of Allies, by Germans Amazes The Entire South.

THE BRITISH STOOD FAST

Admitted, However, That a Real Advance on Paris is Not Now a Mere Possibility.

INVADERS ARE POWERFUL

Fact That it Requires But Three Days to Subdue Namur Speaks Volumes For Them.

BULLETIN

(By United Press.)

Vienna, August 25.—Austria today declared war against Japan. The formal declaration was served on the Japanese ambassador and he was handed his passports. He will leave for Rome as soon as possible.

London, August 25.—England is grimly determined today. The admission that Namur, the Gibraltar of the allied defense, had been taken by the Germans amazed the entire South. Newspapers now frankly admit that a real advance on Paris is now far more than a mere possibility.

Premier Asquith announces in the commons today that the English lines had stood fast in the face of a determined German attack and that the allies are confident they can hold back the invaders.

In the house of lords this afternoon Earl Kitchener, secretary of war said:

"I wired Sir John French to congratulate the troops for their splendid work. We are all proud of them."

Military experts say that the fact that it took the Germans only three days to subdue Namur speaks volumes for the strength of the German advance. The Chronicle today says:

"England and Russia must suddenly resolve that they will never surrender to Germany, come what may to France. They must stick to her as they stuck to Napoleon until they pull her down. As long as we hold the seas we can not ourselves be vitally struck."

Advices from the front today indicate that the German mass movement is moving straight south and southwest with the fighting continuing and the allies entrenched and on the defensive. The main strength of the army of the Moselle, is operating in the neighborhood of Longwy, but the war office experts say every possible offensive movement has been provided for. The Germans in Meurthe-et-Moselle, are admittedly in great

ALLIES ARE NOW ON DEFENSIVE

Driven to Their Own Fortifications by Germans, They Have to Fight Off Invaders.

ASSAULT IS NOT LESSENER

German Troops in Early Attack Retire and French Reinforcements Are Rushed Forth.

Paris Aug. 25.—Driven to their own fortifications, the French and British armies were today strictly on the defensive. Against their lines, the great tidal wave of Germans beat with tremendous force. Fresh columns of German troops have been rushed through to the attack, while the regiments that carried the day yesterday have been withdrawn to rest and to re-fill their shattered columns. The German assault was admittedly as tremendous today as it was on Saturday, when the first battle began.

Namur has fallen. The great fortress, depended on to hold out for weeks, collapsed in three days. The German line, outspread like a giant fan, has enveloped the entire Belgian-French, German-French frontiers. Against the gaps in the chain of fortresses, thousands of Germans are being hurled. The French and English, hidden in hastily constructed entrenchments, are striving with desperation to hold their lines. The war office says they will hold. But it made the same promise about Namur and there is grave apprehension that at last the Germans are going to break through and that a real invasion of France is threatened.

The official bulletin issued today contains no information of details of the situation. The present position is referred to as the "secondary defense," but just where the strongest pressure is being faced is not stated.

strength and well supplied with artillery.

The war office promises casualty lists as soon as they can be issued with safety. Absolutely no figures are obtainable, but it is stated that the percentage of officers killed and wounded is very large. Preparations have been made to receive the wounded as soon as they can be sent here. Emergency hospitals are in readiness everywhere. In addition, many physicians have been sent across the channels to aid the French doctors in caring for the wounded.

The condition of Thomas J. Humes, county commissioner, who suffered a stroke of paralysis in in Newcastle last Saturday was thought to be somewhat improved today.

Paul, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Ormes, living at the corner of Fifth and Jackson streets, is seriously ill with uraemic poisoning.

GENERAL FIGHT IS IMMINENT

Operations in Prussia and Austria So Well Developed That Big Battle Will Soon Come.

TWO RUSSIAN ARMIES THERE

So Far Fail to Penetrate Main Prussian Fortifications—Main Fighting in Country.

(By United Press.)

St. Petersburg, Aug. 25.—The Russian invasion of Austria by two armies, co-operating across a wide stretch of territory, continues. An Austrian cavalry division is reported to have been routed by cossacks in a fight near the frontier town of Podwoloczyska, the cossacks taking prisoners. The general Austrian movement is in co-operation with the forces operating across eastern Russia.

It is stated at the war office that the operations in Prussia and Austria, are now so well developed that a general engagement is imminent. The Russian forces have not yet penetrated any of the main Prussian fortifications, the brunt of the fighting along the railroad extending westward from Eydkuhnen to Instenburg, having taken place in the country.

The war office has warned Russians not to expect too much at the outset. The main lines of the German fortifications are very strong and their reduction will be a different and costly task.

The war office announces that the Russian forces have now occupied several passes of the lower Karpian mountains and are now in force between the mountains and the Sereth River. The Austrians are falling back rapidly before the Russian offense, the official bulletin says.

FORMAL CHARGES ARE MADE PUBLIC

London Press Bureau Cites Cases of Alleged German Brutality in Violation of Rules.

A WOUNDED MAJOR IS SHOT

(By United Press.)

London, August 25.—The official press bureau today made public the formal charges made against the German army by the Belgian government alleging great violation of the rules of international warfare. The statement said that the German infantry shot Major Von Damme through the head as he lay wounded and then quickly buried him. When the body was disinterred 26 bullets were found in the head. The charge is made that the Germans burned six farm houses, gathered the inmates in several groups, placed them in trenches, and then cracked their skulls with rifle butts. The charge is that women and girls were outraged in great numbers.

LETTER TELLS OF WAR TERRORS

Theresa Conover, Daughter of the Rev. Daniel Ryan of Arlington, Writes of Her Experiences.

IN PARIS WHEN WAR BROKE

After Fleeing to London, She Finds Herself Again in Midst of War Preparations.

The Rev. Daniel Ryan, pastor of the M. E. church in Arlington, received a letter this morning from his daughter, Mrs. Theresa Conover, of New York City, who was in Paris when the great European war started describing conditions there at that time. Mrs. Conover reached London safely and the letter was mailed from there. She sailed August 18 and will land at Montreal.

The Rev. Mr. Ryan felt much concerned over his daughter and was very glad to receive the letter. Mrs. Conover is a well known actress and was in Europe traveling when the conflict began. She is known to many Rush county people and the letter will be of interest here. The following is a part of the letter: Aug. 12, London.

I hope you have not been worried about me for while there has been much discomfort I have been in no danger at all. I surely was glad to get out of Paris and onto English soil. The whole thing came on us so suddenly we did not have time to get out. I never have seen such a change come over a place. In thirty-four hours gay, beautiful Paris seemed shrouded in gloom. All the shops, theatres, everything was closed. There was such a run on the bank for gold we poor Americans couldn't get a cent.

The city was put under martial law and the day the mobilization began it was a wonderful sight. How often I have seen pictures mental and on cameras of the war of '63 and heard grandma tell of the troops marching away but I never expected to see it.

I went to the station and it was a wonderful, pathetic sight. The tears, the goodbye, the smile of hope on the faces of the soldiers. I stood it very well until I saw a young husband with a dear little French wife and two-year-old twins. He holding one, she the other. When the parting came I turned away. The spirit is wonderful in France and the music seemed to fill the air. I found it was impossible to get out of Paris by boat for the United States and not knowing when I would leave England I enlisted as a Red Cross nurse. You know there is always something for our hands to do and I felt if I had to remain a guest of France I must do something to help. I was at a large hotel and all the help left for the front and one night we had two hundred guests for dinner and only six waiters. We all helped and it was wonderful how all Americans put themselves out to help another. No introduction was necessary.

We had to get passports just to walk in the streets and Mrs. Smith and I stood in line from 3:30 in the afternoon until 12:30 at night. Panic reigned everywhere. No trains were running as they were all being used to take the militia to the front and we were indeed "marooned." Then came the order from the American Consul that all Americans must get of Paris and here I am.

England is now preparing and I am surely in the midst of a big war drama. The trip from Paris here was

LICENSE FEE IS FINALLY PAID

After Much Argument Show Comes Through With $10 and Band Will Play on Streets.

MAYOR MAKES STATEMENT

Says Place to Get Ordinance Changed is Before Council—Trouble Occurred Last Night.

The band will play tonight. That much is assured as the Guy Stock company paid the city license this morning of $10. The events of last evening now appear to have been mostly talk as the license fee as required by ordinance is paid and everything is expected to run along smoothly the rest of the week. The fee was paid under protest.

Last evening a hot argument occurred on the streets of the city over the city officials putting a stop to the band playing on the streets without first paying the license. A band from the Buckskin Ben show on the fair grounds came to the city and gave a concert. The band was told not to repeat until the license was paid.

Then the Rushville band, engaged to play for the stock company, started to play and they were also warned. The argument was thick and fast. Many people severely criticized the police for their action. The band from the fair grounds did not know anything about the city ordinance as they are under contract with the fair board to give a concert in the city every night and the fair board should have seen about the license. The city band was aware of the proposed action of the city administration but insisted on going ahead.

Many people took sides with the band and a large crowd formed. The police were knocked and Mayor Bebout came in for his share. The law has been enforced here for several years and every band giving a parade or concert on the streets has paid the license fee. The Guy Stock people offered the city five dollars but this was refused as the fee is ten dollars. At the show last night, it is stated, the city was slammed from the stage and the crowd cheered. The events of today indicate a change in mind of someone.

If the band from the fair grounds plays here it will be treated just like all others and the license fee will have to be paid. The Guy company tried to get out of paying the fee because the Rushville band was used. The officials could not see this as the band is working for an out-of-town concern and under this ruling was not exempt from the fee.

Mayor Bebout was perhaps unjustly criticized by many and takes the position that if the people do not want the ordinance enforced they should come before the council and ask that it be repealed. He states that it will do no good standing on the streets talking about it as the council does not meet there. The ordinance was passed in 1907 and has been enforced ever since. The stock company paid the fee last year and never said a word.

When seen today Mayor Bebout gave out the following statement: "The advance agent for the Guy Stock company when here about a week ago agreed to pay the show license fee of ten dollars. As local theatres are required to pay license fees I thought it no more than right that the Guy people with their agreement should pay the fee. If the people of the city and the Chamber of Commerce want the show ordinances changed they should come before the council."

CLOUDS KEEP RALSTON AWAY

Governor Fails to Attend Fair Today and Events in Connection With His Visit are Called Off.

IS INVITED FOR THURSDAY

First Night Program Will be Given Tonight When Band Concert Will Take Place at Grounds.

Rain to a large extent spoiled the first day of the Rush county fair. The visit of Governor Ralston was postponed because of the rain as were all the events arranged because of his visit. Governor Ralston has been invited to attend the fair on Thursday and the committee will know by tonight whether or not he will accept.

It was a big disappointment to the fair association and everyone else as the visit of Governor Ralston was to have been one of the big features of the fair and the largest Tuesday crowd ever on the grounds was expected. Despite the rain and threatening clouds the crowd for Tuesday was up to about the usual standard.

All of the articles were in place for the exhibits and the judging in the agriculture and horticultural departments took place this afternoon. Classes one, two, three and four in the official premium list were passed on today. The postponement of the events connected with the visit of Governor Ralston threw the program out of order but the fair board is not discouraged and hopes for better weather for Wednesday when the fair will be in full swing.

The Chenhall Presbyterian Boys' band of Shelbyville, which will furnish music for the fair, arrived this morning. The first night fair will start tonight when the band will give a concert at the grounds. Leo Nomis, the high diver secured as one of the free attraction, is in the city and will give his first performance tomorrow.

The track will be in shape for the first races of the week tomorrow if the clouds break away. The rain of the past two days tended to help pack the track and all that is needed to make it very fast is a little sunshine. Three races are on the program Wednesday. The races are the 2:30 pace, the 2:27 trot and the county road trot for Rush county horses. Tomorrow night the grand display of fireworks will take place as a close to the day's events.

A valuable cow belonging to Oscar Gordon of near Raleigh was killed by a horse yesterday afternoon. The horse was turned out in the barn yard and suddenly turned on the cow kicking it in the head, killing it instantly.

MEDICINE NOW ON UP GRADES

Price is Advancing on Foreign Drugs and it is Even Impossible to Get Some Kinds.

TESTS AMERICAN INGENUITY

Drug Famine Seems Certain is Foreign Conflict Continues—Some Soaps Are Increased.

Persons who have been using foreign-made medicines may have to discontinue the practice because it is so high in price. But that's not the real rub; it will be impossible to get it. American ingenuity will be put to the acid test of the European conflict continues very long because Americans will have to supply materials used in medicines heretofore coming from foreign countries.

If commerce continues to be interrupted, it is doubtful whether very many foreign drugs can be had. Some German preparations can not be obtained by Rushville druggists and physicians now.

The drug situation perhaps more than anything else impressed the United States with the necessity of action. In an editorial to appear in its September issue, the American Druggist points out that if the European conflict is of more than six months' duration, American consumers of German synthetic drugs will face a famine. Those who now have stocks on hand are warned to conserve them.

Production of these drugs in the United States—for we have the raw materials, the article says—would meet the situation. Yet, such a plan would have its difficulties. "It would probably not be impossible to arrange with the German patentees to manufacture these products in the United States on a royalty basis," says the article, "but in view of the uncertain duration of the war, the patentee would probably not make terms which would tempt American capitalists to erect laboratories and train and organize chemists to carry out the manufacture of these synthetic dyestuffs and drugs.

"This industry has been the outgrowth of fifty years of study and development in Germany. It can only be carried on economically on a large scale. It is not probable that the German manufacturers would wish to have established in the United States laboratories which would practically duplicate their own and thus after the war, entail the operation of a duplicate plant. The prospect, therefore, for supplies of synthetic chemicals and dyestuffs after the consumption of the existing stock is decidedly gloomy.

"In the matter of the dyestuffs, the manufacture of which is associated with that of synthetic drugs, the world's supply will last somewhat longer for the reason that the largest users of these dyestuffs—Germany, France and England—will use little or none during the war. The United States uses probably one-fourth of the world's supply and the remaining three-quarters of the world's supply will be sufficient to keep our cloth, silk and print mills busy for a year."

There has been a reaction in some drug prices which would indicate that the wholesalers put up the price on suspicion and then found that they could lower it again. However, the reductions have not been as numerous as the increases, and some prices continue to soar.

Most of the "patent" medicines used for all sorts of household ills are compounded in this country and no increase in the price of these articles is expected unless some of the ingredients that come from foreign countries run short and limit the output of the plants.

There has already been an advance in the price of foreign made soaps. Castile soap has gone up and there has been a sharp increase in the price of a famous English soap. Nevertheless, local druggists say that there is no better soap made than that manufactured by American firms and there is no reason for any one to go dirty just because the price of some foreign made soaps has jumped. So far there has been no increase in the price of water and wash cloths.

An advance has been felt in oils of lemon and orange, and there is being a big jump in French cosmetics, perfumes and face powders. The retail prices on some of these articles has been raised here.

Manilla.

Miss Elizabeth Cole of Morristown visited friends here the fore part of last week.

The Prohibition Flying Squadron was here Friday at noon and made very interesting and convincing speeches. The crowd was small due to the time of day when they arrived.

The long looked for show Thursday was a complete fizzle as the plays were all as old as time itself. Many people became disgusted and left before it was half over.

Mrs. Ray Hupp returned home Saturday from a few days visit at Flatrock.

Several Manillaites attended the Hagenback & Wallace Show at Shelbyville Saturday.

Miss Cecile Strode returned home after a visit of several weeks among friends and relatives near Boggs town Indiana.

The Ladies Aid of the Christian church held their regular meeting last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Sallie Thomas. A pleasant time was reported by all.

Rev. Ryan took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Murdock Sunday.

The Embroidery Club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Byron Gates, near Homer.

Mrs. Deerhammer of Wisconsin and Mrs. Easley of Indianapolis spent Saturday night with Mrs. Barnum.

Work has begun on the fire engine house. Manilla will soon be an up-to-date city in regard to a fire department.

BIEDERWOLF IS APPLAUDED

Evangelist Who Conducted Meeting

Here Denounces Pastor Russell At Winona Conference.

HIS REMARKS ARE APPROVED

Leader of Campaign Against Brooklyn, N. Y., Teacher Declares he Doesn't Teach Bible.

The Rev. William E. Biederwolf of Monticello, Ind., who recently conducted a tabernacle meeting here, won approval at the Winona Bible conference at the Winona Lake assembly yesterday when he made a spirited attack on Pastor Russell of Brooklyn, N. Y., head of the International Bible Students association. The Rev. Mr. Biederwolf is assistant director of the conference and superintendent of the commission on evangelism of the Federal Council of Churches of Christian America.

Several thousand ministers and church workers who represented practically every Christian church and were from all parts of the world, paid strict attention and frequently applauded Biederwolf's denunciation of Russell.

This was the Rev. Mr. Biederwolf's second attack on the pastor, his first denunciation having been at the Mountain Lake Park (Md.) Conference last week. This his scathing arrangement met with the approval of the great congregation was shown by the enthusiastic handclapping.

The Rev. Mr. Biederwolf declared Pastor Russell's teachings were contrary to the Bible. Pastor Russell's contention that there is no hell was hailed as a lie by the outspoken evangelist, who quoted the Bible freely to prove his argument. "There is a hell; the Bible says so, and if we accept the Bible we must believe all of it as well as part of it," declared the speaker.

The Rev. Mr. Biederwolf recently headed the movement which resulted in the ousting of Pastor Russell from Mountain Lake Park, where the directors were forced to choose between the Bible conference and Russellism, when the Brooklyn pastor offered $1,000 for the use of the auditorium to preach his gospel. The Rev. Mr. Biederwolf is now at the head of a regular crusade against Russellism and Russell's own method of circulating pamphlets and books is being pursued to prove that his faith is not a true faith based upon the words of the Bible.

SPARES NO EXPENSE IN HIS NEW THEATER

Walter Easley Shows Off New Princess to His Patrons at Formal Opening Monday Night.

DECORATIONS ARE ARTISTIC

The Princess theater was opened last night in the new location in the Masonic Temple. The theater is truly "the theater beautiful" and in design and arrangement surpasses many to be seen in larger cities. Walter Easley, owner of the theater, has not spared expense in equipping the place and is justly proud of it.

The theater is fireproof throughout. The floor is made of cement. The decorating, while simple in design, is very artistic. It is lighted by semi-indirect lights and from small wall lights on either side. The screen is of the latest design, being known as a radium silver screen. The screen is placed eight feet back on the stage and is surrounded by black cloth giving a better effect to the pictures. While the theater is not yet complete, Mr. Easley, it can readily be seen, has a picture show that compares to any.

NO MORE ASTHMA AND HAY FEVER!

"I have arranged with the druggist given below that every sufferer from Asthma, Hay Fever or Bronchial Asthma, can try my treatment entirely at my risk," Dr. Rudolph Schiffmann announces. He says: "Buy a 50-cent package of my Asthmador, try it, and if it does not afford you immediate relief, or if you do not find it the best remedy you have ever used, take it back to the druggist, and he will return your money, cheerfully and without any question whatever. After seeing the grateful relief it has afforded in hundreds of cases, which had been considered incurable, and which had been given up in despair, I know what it will do. I am so sure that it will do the same with others that I am not afraid to guarantee it will relieve instantaneously. The druggists handling Asthmador will return your money if you say so. You are to be the sole judge and under this positive guarantee, absolutely no risk is run in buying Asthmador." Persons living elsewhere will be supplied under the same guarantee by their local druggist or direct by Dr. R. Schiffmann, St. Paul, Minn. For sale here by Lytle's Drug Store. Rushville.

List of Over 700 Names on the Ballot Besides Many Propositions to be Decided.

CONSIDERED CUMBERSOME

Four Political Parties Represented and Several Close Contests Are Expected.

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, Aug. 25.—California is casting its primary vote today for the party tickets between which its electors must choose at the November state election, despite a demand for a "short ballot," the ballot at this primary is several feet long. On it are the names of 770 candidates and so many propositions that it takes an average of an hour to read them all. Experts say it is the most cumbersome ballot in California's history and probably in the history of the state. Candidates for the governorship nominations are:

Republican, John D. Fredericks, Los Angeles; Charles M. Belshaw, Antich, and Francis J. Keesling and William C. Ralston, San Francisco. Democratic, Fred H. Hall, Bakersfield; John B. Curtin, Sonoma; Edward White, Watsonville; Sydney M. Van Vech, Jr., San Francisco, and Charles King, Hanford. Progressive, Hiram W. Johnson, San Francisco. Prohibitionist, Clinton P. Moor, Oakland.

Senatorial candidates are: Republican, Joseph R. Knowland, Alameda, and Samuel H. Shortridge, San Francisco. Democratic, James D. Phelan, San Francisco, and Thomas F. Griffin, progressive, Francis J. Feney, San Francisco, and Chester H. Rowell, Fresno. Prohibitionist, Frederick F. Wheeler, Los Angeles.

TRIES TO BLOW UP ROYAL PALACE

Germany Sacrifices One of Her Latest Type of Zeppelin Dirigibles in Vain Attempt Today.

CITY IS TERROR-STRICKEN

(By United Press.)

Antwerp, Aug. 25.—Germany sacrificed one of her latest type of Zeppelin dirigibles today in a vain attempt to destroy the royal palace, with high explosives. Although the entire city was terror-stricken over the appearance of the monster of the air, the quick work of the forts at Heimixem, six miles away, in practically demolishing it, driving it to earth with the capture of the entire crew of 25 men, including the officers in command, quickly restored confidence.

Officials, in re-assuring the inhabitants, declared it was unlikely that there would be any further visitation here as the force of Zeppelins available for war work has been materially reduced.

very interesting. It is usually five hours all together, three by rail and two by boat, but we were twenty hours, the train moving slowly, with sentinels every few feet. We have cured passage on the Indiana which sails next Tuesday, Aug. 18 for Montreal. Its a long way around but I must get home.

There are rumors that war ships are to be sent over for Americans but that has not been verified. There are thousands of Americans here, many afraid to go on account of sunken mines and the possibilities of being seized by a German man-of-war. I am not afraid. If the Germans want me for a while—the U. S. will want me also, so I'll get home safely.

I would not have missed the wonders experienced over here for a great deal but I don't want it again and I surely will be glad when I see home again. In Paris when the streets were deserted by nine—the city put in darkness with only the sentinels and the airships, gloomy and powerful, sailing high in the moonlight sky one felt creepy and wished mother were near to tuck you in bed.

Time to Make Hay

If there ever was a time when road supervisors could "make hay while the sun shines" it is now. After the heavy drenching rains, there is no doubt but that a day's work with a road drag would accomplish more than fifty loads of gravel. Furthermore, the practice of "throwing on" gravel as is done in Rush county accomplishes little and at the same time is a great inconvenience to the travelers.

Even if the gravel were smoothed out on the road after it is dumped, the improvement would be a hundred per cent great value. As it is done now, the gravel is dumped from the wagons and there it lies for vehicles to smooth it off and level it down. What is the result? When the gravel finally has been worn down, there is a little rut or gully between each load of gravel where they did not join. A great improvement could be accomplished, too, if some of the larger rocks were removed from the gravel. They do no earthly good except to jolt persons traveling along the road almost out of their vehicles.

There is a road near Gowdy which furnishes an excellent example. The gravel has been dumped indiscriminately along the road until it is practically impassable in the center where the gravel was unloaded. Gravel costs money. With half the sum expended for gravel each fall, there isn't the least bit of doubt but that the roads could be put in much better condition with a sensible and sane use of the road drag all seasons of the year.

Hail the day when the road drag is appreciated and will come into general use in Rush county.

INDORSING HUGH MILER

(Clinton Clintonian)

In Hugh Th. Miller, the republicans have a candidate for the United States senate, for this fall's election who ought to command the full vote of his party. This in all probability would be enough. But he also should receive many votes from those in other parties who want to see clean, high-minded men in office. Hugh Th. Miller has been tried out in one of the highest offices within the gift of Indiana people. No voice has been raised even to suggest that he was in the least degree found wanting. Mr. Miller recently has been heard in public discussions, such as those held at the Indiana university symposium on the question of a new constitution. There the republican aspirant for the United States senate acquitted himself with marked ability. Progressive, without being a ranter; able, without being boastful about it; so high-minded that even his opponents do not dare charge him with being susceptible of figuring in such bribery scandals as that famous occasion when the eight brewery bought votes landed shively over Kern.—Hugh Th. Miller is the type of man whom any state might well be proud. The people are fortunate to get an opportunity to vote for a man embodying the highest qualities of citizenship and one who, in the United States senate, can be counted upon to put statesmanship above politics.

The meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the Catholic church, which was to have been tonight, has been postponed until September, 3d.

JAMES PRIMARY LAW TRIED OUT

Prospective Office Holders in Michigan Seek Nomination Today Under New Statute

LITTLE INTEREST IS SHOWN

Democratic Candidate for Governor Was Unopposed—Five Republicans in Fight

(By United Press.)

Detroit, Mich. Aug. 25.—The James primary election law, which eliminates enrollment in political parties received its first extensive try-out in Michigan today when a whole grist of prospective office-holders sought nomination. European war news overshadowed the primaries and there was little interest. An extremely light vote was forecasted.

The list of nominations to be made by all parties was extensive. Thirteen congressmen were to be nominated by each party; complete legislative tickets chosen and nominations made for the offices of governor and lieutenant governor.

Interest in the primary centered in the fight in the Republican ranks for the governorship nomination. The names of five candidates—Mayor George E. Ellis, of Grand Rapids; Chase S. Osborn, of Sault, Ste. Marie; Alex J. Groesbeck, of Detroit; Friedrich Frederick C. Martindale, of Lansing, and W. S. Linton, of Saginaw, appeared on the ballot, but it was conceded that the real fight was between Osborn, former governor, Martindale, secretary of State, and Groesbeck, chairman of the state central committee.

Gov. Woodbridge N. Ferris was unopposed for renomination on the Democratic ticket and Henry R. Pattengill, of Lansing, former superintendent of public instruction, had the Progressive field to himself.

Paris Doesn't Brood, Even Though War Is At Its Very Front Door

BY WILLIAM PHILLIP SIMMS
(By U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Paris, Aug. 12.—(By mail to New York)—Gay Parée! Never has the French capital so well deserved her reputation as now. The Paris of war times is surely not the Paris of peace times, but Paris just the same and more happy go lucky than ever. The people left behind here are smiling. Tables and chairs on the sidewalks, the Frenchiest of French institutions have been abolished in conformity with the state of siege, but inside the restaurants and cafes the merry throng continues to sit and sip its favorite drink, usually a "soft" one and snap funny stories. A certain dropping to earth at this particular spot would never guess that there isn't a home in France without its soldier at the front for these people simply refuse to sit about and brood.

Alphonse is 60 years old and is consequently too old to go to the war. His pal is the same age and the services he has volunteered have been refused. "My son," says Gaston, who is quite rich, "writes me he is having a hot time at the front."

"Indeed! And what is he doing?" his eronic asks.

"He is the company cook," replies Gaston laughing over his joke. His son is a social lief and you can picture him playing kitchen mechanic

KILL MORE AND COST MORE, TOO

Preventable Diseases Are Greater Scourge on People Than War, Governor Says in Proclamation.

WHICH IS JUST ISSUED TODAY

Calls on all People in Indiana to Observe Friday, October 2 as Disease Prevention Day.

Friday, October 2 will be disease prevention day in Indiana. Governor Ralston today issued a proclamation calling on the people of Indiana to observe the day. He points out that preventable disease in state and nation cause a greater loss of life and money than war. Mayors of all Indiana cities have been especially urged to prepare in advance for the day. It is very probable that the day will be duly recognized here. The governor's proclamation follows:

When reference is had to the facts it is easy to understand why these eminent thinkers are so solicitous regarding this serious subject. In a recent address made by that great student of public affairs, Secretary Redfield of President Wilson's Cabinet, makes this startling statement:

"Now there have died in the United States in the last six months from preventable causes more people than were slain in the Civil War and more, many times more, than all that have died in the Mexican troubles. We know how to prevent these people from dying, but still they die. We know how to prevent their deaths. We do not prevent them."

The tragedy of today is magnified, when we consider that, according to the showing made by our own State Board of Health, more than eight thousand persons died in 1913 in Indiana from preventable diseases. When contemplating such a disaster our moral sense is so shocked that we hesitate to figure in dollars the vast millions in loss it entails upon our commonwealth. The havoc appears still greater when we consider the property loss through fires occasioned by the unsanitary accumulation of rubbish.

To poison men in factories and mines, to pollute drinking water supplies, to adulterate foods, to drug with nostrums, to maintain conditions causative of preventable diseases is criminal. Health is the greatest of blessing and the source of efficiency and power. The enjoyment of life, and the achievement of liberty and happiness are impossible without it. There is nothing strikingly glorious in a civilization not founded upon intellectual and moral as well as physical strength, for physical health is the surest foundation of mental and moral health.

Now Therefore, I, Samuel M. Ralston, Governor of Indiana, in consideration of these truths, do hereby designate and proclaim Friday, October 2, 1914, as Disease Prevention day within the confines of said state; and I respectfully urge that such exercises be given in the public schools, and such action be taken by the various municipalities and civic and other organizations in Indiana, as will emphasize the importance of public health, the joint responsibility of all citizens therefore in the light of its relation to good society and good citizenship, and will inspire in everyone a desire to meet that responsibility by an active co-operation in all sane efforts for the prevention of physical diseases.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the state to be affixed at the Capitol in the city of Indianapolis, this 25th day of August, 1914.

(Signed)

SAMUEL M. RALSTON,

Governor.

By the Governor: L. G. Ellingham,
Secretary of State.

Society never stands still. It either increases its activities, broadens its views, and makes real progress, or it deteriorates and becomes indifferent to the public welfare. The principle that "that government is the best that governs the least" is founded upon the theory that it is better for both the individual and society to achieve their goal uninterfered with an unassisted by government. One of the greatest objects of government in this country has been, therefore, to promote the happiness of the people by protecting them in their efforts to help themselves that they might individually make their proper contributions to the public welfare.

And just in the degree the individual and society fail to do their duty in these respects government is forced to have that service performed by official mandate. Recognizing this fact, this proclamation is issued with the view of arousing a greater interest on the part of citizens in public affairs, and especially in the matter of public health. Sanitary conditions bear directly upon this problem, and if citizens of their own initiative do not deal wisely and effectively with these conditions, they must of necessity be regulated and controlled by law. That this is a legitimate function of government, whenever unsanitary conditions are neglected by society until they imperil the public interest, has long been held by the most advanced thinkers:

"Health raises and disease lowers the standard of purity and morals."—Seneca.

"The health of its people is the greatest asset a state can have. Improve the public health and you increase the resources of the commonwealth. You cut off waste, public and private, promote community prosperity and individual welfare, and encourage happiness. What greater deed could you do to earn the gratitude of the people of your state."

"An ounce of prevention is worth tons of cure."—Straughn.

"That government is the best which secures for its citizens the greatest freedom from disease, the highest degree of health, and the longest life; and that people which most fully secures the enjoyment of these blessings will dominate the earth."—Vaughn.

"In health of the people lies the strength of the nation."—Gladstone.

When it became known a few weeks ago that this proclamation was contemplated the humane and public spirited Nathan Strous of New York wrote me thus:

"You have done a splendid thing in planning for the observance in your state of a 'Disease Prevention Day and I want to congratulate you on taking this important step. I consider this one of the greatest ideas ever originated in this country and I am sure it will be copied in other states."

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Backachy or Bladder troubles you—Salts is fine for Kidneys.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night. To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

amounted to $40,136,565, against $39,325,000 in 1913, the former high-record year. The year's total included 30,136 complete cars, valued at $27,797,642; automobile tires, $4,159,454; automobile engines, $1,391,893; and miscellaneous parts not specified, $6,787,575.

With the sole exception of 1908, every year during the past decade has shown an advance in value of American automobiles sold to foreign countries. In the fiscal year 1909, according to the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, the value of automobiles exported was $1,859,605; in 1909, $5,387,021; and in 1914, exclusive of parts and shipments to our own non-contiguous territories, $26,574,574, having quintupled in five years and increased thirteen-fold in a decade.

Europe bought nearly one-half of our entire sales of automobiles to foreign countries last year, although some shipments thither are for reshipment to other parts of the world. To the United Kingdom the exports amounted to 7,222 cars, valued at $5,853,127; to Germany, 1,435, valued at $1,059,249; to France, 1,429, valued at $924,130; and to other countries of Europe, 3,271, valued at $2,580,428. Canada and Australia are also important markets the former having taken 4,624, cars valued at $5,919,776; and the latter, including other British Oceania, 4,244, valued at $3,695,595. To South America as a whole, we sold last year 1,985 automobiles, valued at $1,939,212; and to Mexico, 167, valued at $256,675.

The growth in exports of automobiles has been accompanied by a corresponding decline in imports of like articles, the total having fallen from 1,624, valued at $2,905,391 in 1909 to 300 cars, valued at $620,493 in 1914, a new low record for the decade. Of the year's imports, 134 were from France, 40 from the United Kingdom, 55 from Italy and 21 from Germany.

BOXING UNDER NEW LAW IS SUCCESS

State of Wisconsin Derived About $14,000 Last Year From Athletic Commission.

EXACTS PER CENT OF RECEIPTS

(By United Press.) Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 25.—"Boxing under the control of the State Athletic commission had reached its highest standard," said W. H. Linger, chairman of the commission in presenting his annual report today. "It has also demonstrated that the commission is more than self sustaining. The state derives almost $14,000 from this department for the year."

The commission exacts 5 per cent of the gross receipts each boxing match held under its direction. Expenses of the body, including the secretary's salary, are not allowed to mount over $3,000 per annum. The state therefore is enriched by about $11,000 through its control of this branch of athletics.

Last year, boxing clubs held 132 matches in Wisconsin, averaging four bouts to the show. Ten boxers were suspended or barred from the state during the twelve months. Among these was Pacey McFarland who was adjusted guilty of stalling.

REPLEVIN SUIT TO RECOVER OUTFIT

L. B. Harris Brings Suit Against Mayor and Chief of Police for Horse and Buggy Held by Them.

TAKEN TO PAY FINE HE STAYED

Larry B. Harris has filed replevin proceedings against Mayor C. L. Bebout and Chief of Police Rosenkrance, seeking to recover a horse and buggy taken by the city officials to satisfy a fine that Harris is alleged to have stayed. The suit was filed in Squire Kratzer's court and will be heard Thursday, September 3. Harris demands $50 damages.

Last winter, it is alleged that Harris stayed the fines of Roy Innis and another colored boy named Barnett. The men were fined for gaming and the balance due the city was $22, which it is stated Harris agreed to stand good for. The balance was never paid and the city took the horse and buggy belonging to Harris on an execution. Harris states that he did not agree to pay the fines and the replevin suit results.

ONE FINED.

Oliver Newland was fined one dollar and costs by Mayor Bebout this morning in police court, on the charge of public intoxication. Newland was arrested last night by policeman Hunt. He made arrangements to pay the fine.

FALL OF NAMUR A HEAVY BLOW

England Will be Compelled to Send Every Available Man to Check Germans in France.

CHIEFS WILL NOT TALK OF IT

Total Losses, Declared to be Appalling, Will Startle World When They Are Announced.

(By United Press.) London, Aug. 25.—Admission by the war office that Namur has fallen, has ended all hopes in England for a speedy conclusion of the war. It is now accepted that England will be compelled to send every available man, both from the British Isles and the colonies, if the German invasion of France is to be checked. It is believed additional troops are already being sent forward as the transports were being outfitted for service yesterday.

All of the London and of the leading provincial newspapers are demanding that the government explain the fall of Namur. They point out that it had been regarded as far stronger than Liege, which is still claimed to be holding out. The officials at the war office, however, will not discuss it, saying it was held as long as possible and then the allied army fell back to the cover of the second defense line.

It is admitted that the British casualties to date are enormous, although no statement of the exact number is forthcoming. The total losses in both armies to date, are declared to be "appalling" and officials say that when the figures are actually revealed, they will "startle the world."

Discussing the fall of Namur, the military experts of the London newspaper profess to be mystified at its loss.

"It was one of the inexplicable events that makes war a gamble," says the Times expert. "It was defended by works stronger than those at Liege, and had a far stronger garrison. The possession of Namur was as vital for Germany as for the allies and it was a fine stroke for the Germans to have rushed the place under the eyes of the allies. The retreat from the Cambre implies a retreat from the Meuse and an open door for the advance of the German army corps, which has been on the march to Bastogne and the south."

Many of the military experts suggest the French may have been overconfident. They think that, misled by the success of the early Belgian operations, some of the French corps commanders were too eager and advanced their lines too fast and without covering their positions. This is believed certain to have been the case in Lorraine where the French apparently rushed pell-mell into a carefully baited trap.

Reports persist that Nancy has actually been taken by the Germans and that they are now present in overwhelming force in the department of Meurthe-et-Moselle. The war office claims it has no information to make public along this line.

FIGHTING NEAR OSTEND

Dispatches Says Fierce Conflict is Waged in Outskirts.

(By United Press.) London, Aug. 25.—An Ostend dispatch to the Daily News, says fierce fighting is in progress between Uhlans and the Belgian gendarmerie in the outskirts of the city. It is stated that many wounded are being brought into Ostend in motor cars.

DAMAGED BY FIRE.

The home of Jefferson Davis, former sheriff of Decatur county, who lives near Clarksburg, caught fire Sunday from a defective flue and rapidly spread over the roof. The blaze was extinguished, however, with only a few dollars damage.

SAYS GERMANY WILL BE VICTOR

German Ambassador to United States Makes This Prediction on Arrival from Rotterdam

ALLIES NOT VERY CONFIDENT

He Believes This to be True Because They Have Called in Yellow Man to Help.

(By United Press.)

New York, Aug. 25.—"From the emperor to the common laborer the nation is ready to defend itself against this unwarranted attack and I have perfect confidence of victory," was the statement here of Count Johann Von Bernstoff, German ambassador to the United States. The ambassador arrived from Rotterdam today on the liner Noordam, and talked with the greatest freedom. He plainly indicated that feeling as a result of the Japanese entrance into the war is bitter.

"The calling in of the yellow men shows that the allies are not very confident of the outcome," the ambassador declared. "England as the Japanese ambassadors have said, requested Japan to enter the fight."

Count Von Bernstoff denied the false stories that have been circulated in the United States as to the wounding of the German Crown Prince and reports from the German Army headquarters. He said General Emmerich commanding the German troops before Liege had not committed suicide, but was still alive, although suffering from a wound. The Crown Prince was never at Liege the ambassador declared, but is in command of the army and fortress at Metz.

"The last German victory I heard of before leaving," said Von Bernstoff "was won at Metz by the forces under the Crown Prince."

As to the part Japan might play in the war the ambassador declared the yellow men would undoubtedly take Kiao Chau as they would far outnumber the German defenders.

"By the end of the war," he said, "Japan will have the supremacy of the Pacific. She took advantage of the present situation to strike the blow which will result in the supremacy she had longed for for years."

Count Von Bernstoff tells an entirely different story of forces attacking Liege than those reported in news despatches from Belgium.

"When the real story of the attack upon Liege is told," he said "Americans will have a far different opinion of German military methods. The troops under General Von Emmich attacking the forts numbered only between 5,000 and 6,000 men. What was expected to require weeks was accomplished in days. The taking of Liege is one of the greatest military feats of modern times."

The ambassador said his wife was now with the Red Cross at Munich. His son is with the Emperor's guard.

"But for the service for my country in Washington I would be on the battle line myself," Count Von Bernstoff said.

BUILDING ABOUT READY

New Home of Manila Fire Equipment is Nearing Completion.

When the new building to house the recently purchased fire equipment is completed, Manila will probably be better prepared for fire than any town of its size in Manila. The house is being built of cement blocks and will be ten by twelve by twenty feet. It will the house chemical wagon and ladder which were bought a few months ago by the citizens of Manila, who now have invested approximately $600 for fire protection. Most of the materials were purchased at cost, but if they had been at regular price, the city would have expended about $1,000.

Watching Little Things Makes Farmer's Income Grow Larger

"There are men in my neighborhood," said a country merchant "whom I call 'endless chain farmers,' while there are others whom I call 'breakers,' the latter so called because I know that there will be certain periods of each year in which they will have a break in their incomes. The first always pay as they buy, while I look out that the second only buy as they pay."

This merchant was not a farmer himself, but he had grown rich doing business with them and he knew the financial standing and the farm methods of every man in his community. In a little speech which he once made he explained his endless chain theory; "Farming," he said, "entails every law of political economy ever mentioned by John Stuart Mill. There is unearned increment, a margin of utility, the law of supply and demand, the manufacturers' profits, consumption of raw material, plant depreciation, and the labor question. Over some of these economic principles the farmer has present control, while over others he has none. He can more or less control raw materials, manufacturers' profits and plant depreciation—in fact, his success as a farmer depends on the way he handles these three factors.

Taking the corn crop for example, his raw material consists of his corn and fodder, and his manufacturer's profits are determined by the way his cattle and hogs turn this raw material into marketable beef and pork and his plant depreciation depends on the disposition he makes of the humus in building up his soil. A farmer who sells his corn as he harvests it, leaving his fodder to shrivel up in the field, who gives no thought of replacing the plant foods which each crop takes from the soil, makes a profit only from his raw material, and when that is sold his income ceases.

"On the other hand, the farmer who saves his fodder, shredding it for the mow or chopping it for his silo, has cheap raw material where-with to feed cattle and hogs who manufacture it into butter fat, beef and bacon, the sale of which brings in a steady all-year income. These in their turn provide fertilizer which next year makes the soil richer, so that there is more raw material for feed, more cattle and hogs to sell, more money constantly coming in, and so on, year after year. These are what I call 'endless chain farmers.' They are the ones who live comfortably, enjoy farming and send their boys and girls to college."

All farmers do not have silos, but more and more are seeing the light, and each year thousands of these profit-getting obelisks are being erected. The value of the corn stalk is being widely advertised, but still there are those who do not realize that it is the finest auxiliary roughage when fed with either ensilage, clover or alfalfa, as a balance part of the grain ration.

Selling the hay and feeding the fodder is one link of the endless income. Cheap food and high-priced butter and beef is the second link. A third link, so to speak, is in the nature of a rebate. We get back part of what we give. In farming, as in business, we must render unto Caesar what we take from him, and in this case Caesar is the soil. Without going into the detail of soil chemistry, it is sufficient to say that unless we return nitrogen and salt containing humus to the field from which we gather our corn crop, our corn yield will grow less each year, just as the wheat yields are diminishing in the prairie.

Stable manure is by far the best natural fertilizer within the reach of the average man, but the way it has been handled would cause a chemist to weep. Liquid manure is laden with gold bearing nitrogen, but to be saved and utilized it must come in contact with something of an absorbent nature. Corn stalks do not absorb at all, many straws absorb poorly, but shredded stover singularly enough, acts like a blotting paper. It is the king of bedding.

It is easily handled, goes through the spreader nicely, and rots easily. It is next year's insurance for next year's income and it does not lessen any the returns for the current year. The sign of the agricultural times indicates to those who can read signs that it is only a matter of time when barnyard humus will be as jealously conserved in this country as it is now in Japan and India, and that the farm in the future without a spreader will be as unique as the farm today without a wagon. The United States Agricultural Department and the State schools in advocating a policy which is going to cost those who practice it extra money. Many tests have proved that husking by hand in the field as compared with cutting the corn with a binder and husking it with a machine, allowing for machine depreciation and all that, costs practically the same. The shredding is thrown in and the corn fodder is practically velvet. From 250 to 1,000 bushels of corn can be husked in a 10-hour day, depending on the equipment. And whether one owns the machine himself or hires a custom outfit, the annual cost of husking by machine is so near identical that there is no choice.

The main difference between the two methods is that one gives you rheumatism and the other gives you fodder.

MAY ELEVATE MERRY DEL VAL

Friends of Papal Secretary State Start Movement Today to Elect Him as Pope

UNWRITTEN LAW AGAINST IT

Sacred College Prays That New Pontiff May be Able to Restore Peace in Europe

BY HENRY WOOD
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Rome, Aug. 25.—"The entire sacred college is praying that God may guide us in the election of a new pontiff, who may be able to restore peace in war-torn Europe."

This was the statement of Cardinal Farley, one of the three American princes of the church, who arrived here today for the conclave at which a successor to the late Pope Pius X, will be selected. Cardinal Farley came here from Switzerland, after fleeing from Austria following the declaration of war. He is the first foreign cardinal to arrive and will participate in the celebration of masses being said for the late pope.

Since the death of Pope Pius, Cardinal Merry Del Val, the papal secretary of state, has remained constantly in his apartments, where he mourns alone. He regarded the late pontiff with the love of a son for his father. He has refused to see all visitors and has not participated in the affairs of the church, so great is his grief.

Friends of the cardinal today launched a movement for his election as pope, in the coming conclave. Telegrams have been sent to all foreign cardinals who have not yet reached Rome and it is certain that on the first ballot in the conclave, Merry Del Val will receive a large complimentary vote in recognition of the services rendered Pope Pius. Although there is an unwritten law that the secretary of state shall not succeed directly to the papal throne, friends of Merry Del Val hope to make this ballot elective. They are anxiously awaiting the arrival of Cardinal O'Connell, from the United States, as he will be the chief supporter of the late pope's chief adviser.

It was announced that Cardinal Martinelli, former papal delegate to the United States, will be excluded from the conclave because of mental infirmity. If all foreign cardinals reach Rome there will therefore be 64 in the conclave.

The cardinals today receive the ambassadors of the various nations who expressed the condolences of their sovereigns.

Cardinal Vanutelli acted as spokesman for the sacred college in replying.

In preparing the kitchens of the vatican, when the food of the cardinals will be prepared during the conclave, it has been arranged that each cardinal shall be served with food such as he would have in his own country. It may be necessary to employ cooks of the varying nationalities of the members of the sacred college.

FARM HOUSE BURNS DOWN

Dwelling Near Morristown Belonging to Carthage Man Destroyed.

A two-story, six room house on a farm two miles north of Morristown which belongs to Dr. W. W. Righter of Carthage, burned down last night about seven-thirty o'clock, causing a loss estimated at $1,200. Daniel Olinger was the tenant on the farm. Mr. and Mrs. Olinger were at home all day and during the evening. They say there was no fire in the house with the exception of that in a hot plate. They can not account for it. Only a small amount of furniture was saved. The owner carried some insurance on the house.

JAPAN TO FIGHT FOR KIAO CHAU

She Will be Unable to Get German Possession in China to Surrender Without Resistance

PREPARATIONS OF DEFENSE

Complete Chain of Earthworks Erected and Every Approach is Believed to be Mined

(By United Press.)

Pekin, Aug. 25.—Despite the attempt of the Japanese to get the garrison of Kiao Chau to surrender without resistance, it is now certain the German fortifications will be taken only after a hard fight.

The governor, under direct orders from the kaiser, to resist to the utmost, has issued a second proclamation to the people, couched in even more defiant language than was his first. Every German is called to the aid of the troops.

It is stated here that rapid fire guns have been mounted on temporary fortifications erected to withstand a land attack from the rear, and that a complete chain of earthworks, protected by entanglements, has been constructed. In addition, it is believed here every approach has been mined.

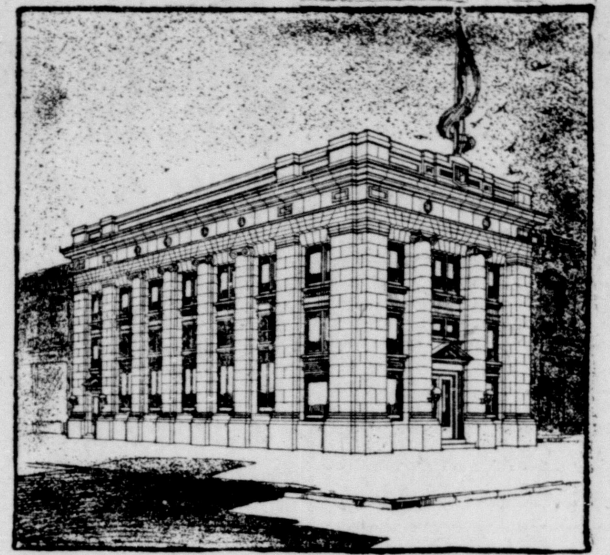

A pamphlet printed in Chinese, bitterly attacking the English, has been issued, and is now being generally circulated throughout China. It declares Germany is China's sincere friend, and that Japan and England plot her ruin.

EARLY FALL EXHIBIT

Notably Coats, Suits, Skirts

Signs of busy preparation for this occasion have been seen throughout the store for many days. THE LADIES' READY TO WEAR DEPARTMENT ON OUR SECOND FLOOR is now a veritable exposition of all the worthy work that has newly come from fashion's fingers. For novelty, for artistic merit of each garment, for the permanency of the styles shown and the lack of short-lived "freakish costumes this exhibit is par excellence.

THE DRESS GOODS AND SILK SECTION

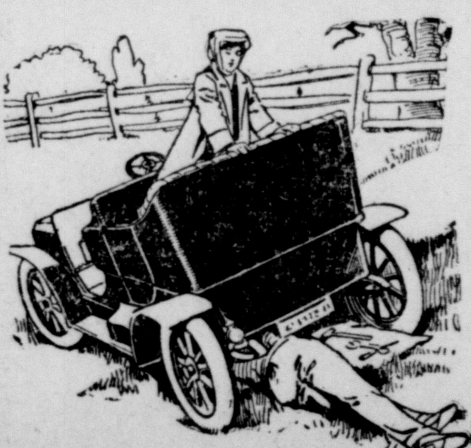

likewise has taken on new life and color, now reflecting from a thousand examples the mind and purpose of fashion. Women who experience a sense of satisfaction and the lack of short-lived "freakish" costumes this exhibit is par excellence.

FAIR VISITORS

A special welcome and a special place in the hospitality of the store is accorded all who attend the fair. Come in and make use of our many store privileges. They are for your convenience. USE THEM.
